RE: Clarification of the Blueberries Agreement.

Mark,

There was an unauthorized public press release put out on March 26th by Blueberries Medical Corp OTC: BBRRF, this release was created without the permission of Cannava which is a breach of the agreement signed with BBV labs which was acquired by Blueberries.

The release contained incorrect and misleading information, which I believe, was used primarily with stock and market purposes.

In order to clarify, the release stated that we granted them a 3.2 million square feet (30 hectares) of manufacturing and Processing and that it is for the sale of medical cannabis products to the Argentina population of 44 million people, all of which is not true. The correct information is the agreement consists of only 1 initial hectare of land for a greenhouse in the 1st year with the rights to expand to 9 hectares over a 5 year period. The property has not yet been designated, and is not as stated, in the release, on the El Pongo farm.

I apologize if this has caused any confusion among your investors and shareholders. In the future we will consult on any other potential companies looking at the Jujuy market to make sure it fits within our cultivation strategy as well as notify you in the event there are any requested changes in the Blueberries agreement.
